HOW TO ADD KASPERSKY TO ANOTHER COMPUTER?

Users may need to add Kaspersky to another computer for several reasons. They might need to protect their device from online threats like ransomware, malware, and phishing. Adding Kaspersky to another computer can help enhance security features, ensuring your device is protected from various cyber threats.

Having Kaspersky on multiple devices ensures your entire network is secure and maintains the same level of security across all systems. Additionally, when you connect all your devices to your My Kaspersky account, you can easily update subscriptions, manage security settings, and check the device status from a single interface. This keeps all devices secure and up-to-date. Apart from device protection, you can use your My Kaspersky account to manage the security remotely.
